

Dear Yam,

April 27, 2011

*I don't know what makes me
stay...*

*But my L♥VE for you
grows stronger
each day.*

*I will never
love this way
again.*

You are what my ♥ longs for.

My eternal partner.

This is the day that the Lord has made, I will rejoice and be glad in it. Why? Because it's our 11 months of friendship, love and commitment, Until now I can't imagine how great is our God and with this, I just want to ask you Yam to be with me in this prayer:

Father God in heaven, you are our first love. There is none like you. Thank you for your faithfulness in our relationship. You alone deserve the glory in this relationship. Thank you for the gift of our future marriage. Thank you for working always. Truly, nothing is impossible with you. You have shown it on the cross and now as our 1st year of love is approaching, we claim the victory in everything! We love you and we just dedicate this special day to you. In the name of our Lord Jesus Christ. Amen

To my loving and awesome Yam, I LOVE YOU SO MUCH!!! HAPPY 11TH MONTHSARY! Thank you for bringing out the best in me and who trusts that I'll always bring out the best in you. In spite of our imperfections, we will grow to be a future couple after God's own heart. Let's continue to be faithful and I know and I believe that we can do all things through Him who give us strength. (Philippians 4:13)

ALL THE GLORY IN THIS RELATIONSHIP BELONGS TO GOD ALONE!

Jayson

